

Bodega Raffy

Malbec "Grande Réserve" 2010

Composition:	100% Malbec, from 60-year old ungrafted vines, "Pied Franc"
Vineyard:	Single Vineyard Gualtallary, Tupungato Valle de Uco, Mendoza
Soil profile:	Stony, sandy and calcareous soil, with excellent drainage and structure, formed during the Quaternary period by alluvial erosions of the Andes.
Altitude:	Located at 1250m (4000 ft) above sea-level, we benefit from: - high sunlight intensity during the day, increasing grape colour and maturity. - cooling winds during the night, preserving natural acidity and freshness of aromas.
Harvesting:	100% manual, ensuring only the best grapes are used. Destemming is then carried out before the crushing process.
Yields:	Very Low (29 hectoliters/hectare) giving great concentration, structure and complexity.
Ageing:	24 months in 100% new French oak barrels, Allier, France.
Technicals:	Alcohol: 15.0% vol Total Acidity: 5.39 g/l Sugar: 1.38 g/l pH: 3.5
Style:	A harmonious and elegant wine, showing excellent density of fruit, complex minerality, great freshness and smooth tannins.
Cellaring:	Raffy "Grande Réserve" will evolve beautifully over the next decade
Awards:	17- /20 on JancisRobinson.com (ratings released 22 July 2013) 90 Points Wine Enthusiast Magazine Gold Medal, Argentina Wine Awards 2010 Gold Medal, Vinalies Internationales 2013
Winery:	Bodega Raffy is the realisation of a family dream: finding a fantastic terroir in a breathtaking region, building a winery from the ground up, and making world-class malbec
Winemaker:	Marcelo Pelleriti Marcelo released his first 100-Point Parker wine in Pomerol, France, last year: Chateau La Violette 2010. He also obtained 99 points for Chateau Le Gay 2010, Pomerol
